- a primary source library to give students and researchers a unique insight into their subject without leaving their desks

Comments from the Cengage Learning User Survey 2013:

“One of the biggest problems we have is with students citing Wikipedia and the open web. We need them to use reputable, authored and peer-reviewed titles”

“It would be great if you could integrate journal and reference content so that one leads to the other”

Canada

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

For other uses, see Canada \(disambiguation\).

Canada (<sup>i</sup>/ˈkænədə/) is a country in North America consisting of ten provinces and three territories. Located in the northern part of the continent, it extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific and northward into the Arctic Ocean. Covering 9.98 million square kilometres in total, Canada is the world's second-largest country by total area and the fourth-largest country by land area. Its common border with the United States forms the world's longest land border.

The land that is now Canada has been inhabited for millennia by various Aboriginal peoples. Beginning in the late 15th century, British and French colonies were established on the region's Atlantic coast. As a consequence of various conflicts, the United Kingdom gained and lost North American territories until left, in the late 18th century, with what mostly comprises Canada today. Pursuant to the British North America Act, on July 1, 1867, three colonies joined to form the autonomous federal Dominion of Canada. This began an accretion of provinces and territories to the new self-governing Dominion. In 1931, Britain granted Canada near total independence with the Statute of Westminster 1931 and full sovereignty was attained when the Canada Act 1982 severed the vestiges of legal dependence on the British parliament.

Canada is a federal parliamentary democracy and a constitutional monarchy, Queen Elizabeth II being the current head of state. The country is officially bilingual at the federal level. It is one of the world's most ethnically diverse and multicultural nations, the product of large-scale immigration from many countries, with a population of approximately 35 million as of 2015. Its advanced economy is one of the largest in the world, relying chiefly upon its abundant natural resources and well-developed international trade networks. Canada's long and complex relationship with the United States has had a significant impact on its economy and culture.

Your Online Resources

Gale Virtual Reference Library

Hello ETH-Bibliothek administrator!
Click the Contact Us link above at any time if you have questions.

Gale Virtual Reference Library is a database of encyclopedias and specialized reference sources for multidisciplinary research. These reference materials once were accessible only in the library, but now you can access them online from the library or remotely 24/7. Because each library creates its own eBook collection, the content you see may vary if you use the database at different libraries (your school, your public library, or your office).

The Illustrated London News...

On Saturday 14 May 1842, a publishing revolution occurred. The world's first pictorial weekly newspaper was born: the Illustrated London News. Its founder, Henry Colburn, was an entrepreneurial newspaperman who noticed that newspapers sold more copies when they carried pictures. The inaugural issue covered a fire in Hamburg, Queen Victoria's fancy dress ball, the war in Afghanistan and the latest fashions in Paris. The ILN commissioned a galaxy of great artists and craftsmen to cover wars, royal events, scientific invention, and exploration. In 1958 launched the world's first colour supplement. Over the years the publication carved a home for distinguished contributors and continued to push the boundaries of journalism throughout its history.

The screenshot shows the Gale NewsVault website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for "Not signed in? LOGIN", "Change Databases", "Intl Web Demo", "Return to Library", and "LOG OUT". The Gale logo and "NewsVault" title are prominently displayed. Below the title is a menu with "Home", "Advanced Search", "Publications List", "Browse By Location", and "Help". The main content area is titled "Welcome to Gale NewsVault" and features several key features:

- Cross-search all your Gale newspaper archives using a single interface
- Explore over 400 years of content
- Search the full text of over 10 million page images
- Discover the context of your search results
- Browse all newspapers published on the same date
- Read newspapers cover to cover in full screen

On the right side, there is a "Search Collections" panel with tabs for "Keyword", "Entire Document", and "Date". A "SEARCH" button is present. Below the search bar, it says "For more detailed options try ADVANCED SEARCH". Under "Limit By Your Collections:", there is a list of checked items with "Quick Look" links:
