WILEY

Open access basics

What is open access and what are the benefits?

Open access

- Immediately, freely available online for all to read, download, reuse and share
- An Article Publication Charge (APC) is typically applied. This may be covered by an institution or funder
- Published under a Creative Commons (CC) license, author retains copyright

Types of journals

Subscription only journals:

- Free to publish but need to be subscriber to read

Open access journals:

- Articles are freely accessible online
- Authors pay an Article Publication Charge (APC)
- The APC can be paid via the author's institution or funding

Hybrid journals:

- Subscription journal that allows open access publications
- Article can be published behind or outside paywall

For listings of Wiley open access and hybrid journals, more information can be found here.

Why publish OA?

How open access is transforming research communication

3x Downloads

On average, open access articles were downloaded 3x as much as subscription articles

Av full text downloads per article

~2x Citations

Open access articles were cited nearly twice as much compared to subscription articles

Av citations per article (Dimensions)

4.5x Altmetric Score

Open access articles received 4.5x as much Altmetric attention as subscription articles

Av altmetric score per article

Submission to Open Access Journals

Submission to OA journal

Authors will be presented with a payment question during manuscript submission.

They will indicate their affiliation with a Wiley Open Access Account.

Submission

- Step 1: Type, Title, & Abstract >
- Step 2: File Upload >
- Step 3: Attributes >
- Step 4: Authors & Institutions >
- Step 5: Reviewers >
- Step 6: Details & Comments >
- Step 7: Review & Submit >

Payment Options

Upon submission of your manuscript, you'll need to select one of the three payment options.

Please note that funding, discounts and waivers will only be awarded if the CORRESPONDING Author qualifies. Therefore it is essential that you have correctly flagged the Corresponding Author on the "Authors & Institutions" submission step.

Depending on the Corresponding Author's institutional affiliation or funding source:

- The Corresponding Author's institution or funder has an existing agreement with Wiley and may pay the Article Publication Charge from this account on behalf of the author, or offer a discounted APC.
Use our Account Code Finder Tool to check if the Corresponding Author's institution or funder has an agreement with Wiley that may pay your Article Publication Charge or offer a discounted APC. If their institution or funder is listed, choose this option.
- The Corresponding Author (or their institution) will pay directly or will arrange payment (request an invoice) for the APC.
Select this option to pay or to arrange payment for the Article Publication Charge. Choose this option if the institution requires an invoice for payment. You can pay by credit card, invoice or proforma. If you choose this option, you may also be eligible for certain discounts from the "Discounts That May Apply" section.
- The Corresponding Author is from a country on the Wiley Open Access Automatic Waiver List and may be eligible for an automatic waiver of the Article Publication Charge.
If the Corresponding Author is from a country that appears on the list linked to above, select the Automatic Waiver option.

Choose a Payment Option

- The Corresponding Author's institution or funder has an existing agreement with Wiley and may pay the Article Publication Charge from this account on behalf of the author, or offer a discounted APC.
Click here to access the Account Code Finder Tool. Follow the directions on the page and enter the institution's code in the field below.
Please enter institution code here:

0 OUT OF 4 CHARACTERS
Enter the Grant/Project Number if the institution or funder requires this information:
- The Corresponding Author will pay directly or will arrange payment (request an invoice) for the Article Publication Charge.
(Select from the dropdown menus below for any applicable discounts.)
- The Corresponding Author is from a country on the Wiley Open Access Automatic Waiver List and requests an Automatic Waiver of the Article Publication Charge for this article.

Request Approval Provided

Request Approval

Authors will receive an email confirmation that their request to use the Wiley Open Access Account had been approved.

Dear Author,

I am responding to your request for your institution or funder to pay the article publication charge for the following manuscript submitted to Test Journal:

Article Title:

Manuscript ID:

Article Publication Charge:

Institution/Funder Name:

Funder Grant Number Provided:

Your payment request has been accepted by the institution or funder.

If your manuscript is accepted for publication in Test Journal, you will not personally be asked to pay the article publication charge. If you have questions about the status of your manuscript, please contact the Editorial Office.

Thank you for submitting your manuscript to Test Journal.

Sincerely,
Wiley Open Access

Author Services dashboard

Author Services Dashboard

The author will be asked to sign a license agreement.

No payment steps are necessary since the article publication charge has already been approved by the institutional account.

The screenshot displays the Wiley Author Services dashboard. At the top, the Wiley logo is on the left, and navigation links for Home, My Dashboard, Authors, Reviewers, Editors, and Help are in the center. A search bar and a user profile icon are on the right. Below the navigation bar, there are tabs for My Articles, Communication History, and Order History. The 'My Articles' tab is active, showing a search filter for 'Filter my articles by title, journal or DOI' with a search icon and the text '2 articles'. A red banner at the top of the article list reads 'Action required'. The first article is from 'Cancer Medicine' and is titled 'A correlation research of Ki67 index, CT features, and risk stratification in gastrointestinal stromal tumor'. The article is marked as 'Open Access' with a blue button, which is highlighted by a blue box. Below the article title, the DOI is listed as <https://doi.org/10.1002/cam4.1737> and the status is 'Published'. A red 'Manage Article' button is located at the bottom right of the article entry. To the right of the article list, there is a grey box titled 'Find a home for your next article' with the text 'Wiley partners with the world's best research leaders and organizations to publish hundreds of top-tier journals.' and a 'Find a journal' button.

Copyright ownership

The following steps will establish who has copyright ownership for the work.

After we have identified the relevant copyright owners, we will provide instructions on how the license(s) can be signed and submitted.

Do you own the copyright to this work?

Please select and confirm from the following options

Yes, I own the copyright to this work

This is the correct selection for many works

In most academic and healthcare institutions, faculty retain the copyright for work that they have authored. Please check with your institution to see if different policies apply.

No, I do not own the copyright to this work

Another party may own the copyright to this work

This can apply if:

- This work was completed as part of official duties during the course of employment. Example employers where this can apply:
  - Local government agencies (U.S., U.K., etc.)
  - Private companies
  - Intergovernmental Organizations (IGOs) or Non-governmental Organizations (NGOs)
- There is a related clause outlined in the original statement of work
- The work has been contracted or 'made for hire'

The organizations and agencies listed in each category have non-standard licensing terms. Most organizations or agencies use the standard licensing terms, for which you can click "Other." If your organization or agency requires non-standard licensing terms and is not listed here, please click Help below.

U.S. Government

Applies only if the work was authored as part of a contributing author's official duties as a United States federal government employee; such works are in the public domain in the US.

U.K. Government

Applies only if one or more contributing author are employees of the U.K. government

Intergovernmental Organization (IGO) or Non-Governmental Organization (NGO)

Applies if one or more contributing authors are employees of an IGO or NGO. For example, World Health Organisation, United Nations and their subsidiaries, World Bank, etc.

Other Government

Applies only if one or more contributing authors are government employees outside of the U.S. and U.K.

Company or Institution

This can apply to a private or commercial corporation to whom you are employed. This does not typically apply to most universities and academic institutions

Wiley has an agreement with your institution, Karolinska Institutet, to cover eligible open access article publication charges (APCs) for their affiliated authors. Visit our Bibsam page to find out what type of APC coverage is available from your institution.

Make your article freely available for everyone to read, copy, distribute and share.

Publishing open access:

- Enables the greatest possible readership and multidisciplinary influence
- Allows your article to be cited widely and achieve the greatest possible impact in your field
- Complies with open access mandates - retain copyright and choose a Creative Commons license

License Agreement

If open access is selected, the author is asked to select a Creative Commons license dependent on funding source(s) reported and journal license permissions.

A short description of each Creative Commons license type is made available per license type to aid authors when deciding which license to sign.

Open Access Workflow – Hindawi Submission

Hindawi journals have a slightly different workflow for authors, managed through the system Phenom, as opposed to prior workflows taking place in Wiley's EEO/submission systems or Wiley Author Services.

As part of their submission workflow, authors will be asked to input all authors on the paper. Please note it is this step that triggers eligibility.

This system only allows for one corresponding author (CA) to be labelled here. Each author can only add one affiliation.

Authors will get emails on:

- Submission, acceptance, rejection, or withdrawal of manuscript
- Approval or denial of request

Writing + publication tips

How does the submission of your paper work?

- Submissions made via a journal's online submission system (ScholarOne, Editorial Manager, & others)
  - The corresponding author must be affiliated with an institution that has an open access agreement with Wiley.
- Authors are required to respond to submission questions, recommend reviewers, declare any conflict of interest, etc.
- Authors have an opportunity to provide a cover letter
- Manuscripts go through an initial checklist to make sure they are complete and the Author Guidelines have been followed
- Manuscripts are checked for plagiarism using special software (iThenticate)

What do editors look for?

ALL JOURNALS

- Scope
- Format (Communication, full paper, review...)
- Understandability
- Compliance to guidelines, ethical behavior

Editors are not always qualified to evaluate the technical merits of manuscripts.

This is the job of the reviewers.

MOST JOURNALS

- Novelty
- Importance (in specific field / in related disciplines)
- Interest

Writing strategy

- Write down, in any order, all important ideas that occur to you concerning the paper
- Sort all your ideas into three major sections:
  - Introduction
  - Results and Discussion
  - Conclusions
- Organize each of these sections on yet finer scale

Abstract

You have 20 seconds to explain your work to a scientist who is unfamiliar with it.

SHORT, STAND-ALONE SUMMARY OF YOUR RESEARCH

- Don't cram the abstract with details. Tell the audience that the butler did it in the 1st sentence!
- Stand alone. Use plain language, avoid citations and non-standard abbreviations
- Include keywords
- In 7-10 sentences: Key results, what you did, unanswered questions, broader view/implications

Title

1st IMPRESSION COUNTS!

- Include only one key message of the study
- Completely understandable on first reading
- Simple and specific to describe the content.
- Be concise, use less words possible.
- Not too technical, no jargon.
- Include keywords

KEY TO SEO

- Choose 5-10 keywords / phrases
- Test your keywords with free tools
- Use keywords in:
  - The title (2-4)
  - The abstract (3-4)
  - Subtitles
  - The fields reserved for keywords (5-7)
- Use the keywords in a natural way
- Avoid excessive use

Assessing the needs of older people in urban settings: integration of emotive, physiological and built environment data

Nigel Walford<sup>1</sup>, Judith Phillips<sup>2</sup>, Ann Hockey<sup>3</sup> and Susan Pratt<sup>4</sup>

Design of the built environment for navigability and walkability is an increasingly important aspect of urban planning. This focus derives in part from increasing interest in lifestyles and behaviours, including level of physical activity and health outcomes. Geographical information systems and virtual realities are playing a significant role in advancing this agenda: examples exist of integrating qualitative data (words about or visual images of places) and quantitative data (numerical descriptions of places). However, there remain opportunities for exploring alternative ways of linking different types of data (physiological measurements, emotional response, street walkability and urban design quality) to address issues of urban planning and renewal. Using a case study approach this paper explores the application of geographic information science and systems to participatory approaches in built environment planning with the aim of exploring older people's response to an unfamiliar urban environment. It examines different ways of combining temporally and spatial referenced qualitative and quantitative data. The participants in the study were a group of 44 older people (60+) from Swansea, Wales, who viewed a filmed walking route around Colchester, England. While viewing the film they gave an oral commentary and physiological readings were made, which have been integrated with primary data collected on the built environment along the walking route. Proximity and inverse distance weighting approaches for combining these datasets produce complementary results in respect of older people's physiological and emotive response to variation in the walkability and design quality of a walking route through an unfamiliar town centre. The results reveal participants experienced an elevated average heart rate close to Colchester Town railway station and expressed a comparatively negative emotional response to this location. Conversely participants experienced lower average heart rate, indicating reduced stress, in Brook Street where the overall Urban Design Quality score was relatively low.

References

STAND PROUDLY ON THE SHOULDERS OF GIANTS

- Cite the main scientific publications on which your work is based.
- Make sure that the cited literature is up to date and reflects the current state of knowledge in the field.
-  Do not “cherry pick” papers that support your viewpoint only; acknowledge contrasting hypotheses.
- Do not inflate the manuscript with too many references – it doesn't make it a better manuscript!
- Avoid excessive self-citations.

More mistakes are found in the references than any other part of the manuscript!

Explain to the editor:

- Why work is significant
- What is the major advance
- Why the journal is the right one
- Disclose conflicts of interest
- List related papers in press and prepare to provide copies!
- Provide reviewers suggestions

The cover letter should take shape from the paper's intro & conclusion
